

Market Cap.
8,890.98
BILLION VND

Total Revenue
26,632
BILLION VND

P/E
15.64

EPS
2,494

Market position

DGW is one of the leading companies in the trading and distribution of information technology devices, components, and software in Vietnam.

The company is ranked among the Top 9 retail enterprises contributing the most to the state budget. DGW has achieved an average annual revenue growth rate of approximately 35%.

Delivering sustainable surplus value to investors has always been one of the company's top strategic priorities.

Financial performance

Digiworld Corporation maintains a relatively healthy financial position, supported by steady revenue and profit growth as well as consistent operational efficiency. The company's ROE of around 15% reflects effective capital utilization, while a current ratio of approximately 1.4 demonstrates stable liquidity and the ability to meet short-term obligations. In addition, DGW has maintained positive and stable EBITDA margins, highlighting the resilience of its core distribution business. Although the dividend yield remains modest, the company's strong growth orientation and expanding business segments provide favorable long-term financial prospects. Overall, DGW's financial health is considered stable, with solid growth potential driven by rising technology consumption trends and its expanding Market Expansion Services (MES) model.

TIME HORIZON

SUITABLE FOR MEDIUM-TERM INVESTMENT (1–3 YEARS)

with a higher probability of price appreciation compared to short-term investments and lower risk than long-term investments.

(1–3 years)

The company is currently in a strong earnings growth phase, supported by increasing demand for technology products and expansion into new business segments.

RISK TOLERANCE

MEDIUM TO MODERATELY HIGH RISK LEVEL

DGW is considered to have a medium to moderately high risk level. The company faces pricing pressure risks because it mainly operates as a distributor rather than a manufacturer.

In addition, its business performance is highly dependent on consumer spending cycles, especially in the technology and electronics sectors.

ROEA

25.66% - 16.88%

ROAA

9.77% - 5.54%

EPS

6,261 VND - 2,494 VND

Medium and long-term prospectus

POSITIVE OUTLOOK FOR MEDIUM TO LONG-TERM

• Expansion into New Business Segments

The company is expanding into new industries and distributing essential goods and home appliances in order to reduce dependence on a single product category.

• Benefiting from Technology Consumption Trends

DGW is expected to benefit from the increasing demand for technology products and the replacement cycle of electronic devices.

• Strengthening Financial Foundation

In the long term, if DGW can maintain earnings growth while improving free cash flow, it may further strengthen its financial foundation, improve ROE, and support stock valuation growth.

• Sustainable Competitive Advantage through MES Model

The Market Expansion Services (MES) model provides DGW with a sustainable competitive advantage, enabling the company not only to act as a distributor but also to participate deeply in marketing and market development activities. This strategy is expected to support EPS growth over the next 3–5 years.