Expansion of Industrial and Infrastructure Investments

GEX continues expanding its industrial manufacturing, energy, and infrastructure projects, which may support long-term revenue growth and operational scale.

Growth from Industrial Parks and Renewable Energy

The company is expected to benefit from rising FDI inflows, industrial relocation trends, and increasing demand for renewable energy and infrastructure development in Vietnam.

Diversified Business Portfolio

GEX's diversified ecosystem across manufacturing, utilities, energy, and industrial real estate helps create more stable revenue streams and strengthens long-term competitiveness.

Market position

Gelex Group is one of Vietnam's leading multi-sector industrial conglomerates, holding a strong position in the electrical equipment industry. Through subsidiaries such as CADIVI, THIBIDI, and EMIC, GEX maintains leading market shares in power cables, transformers, and electric meters, supporting Vietnam's infrastructure and national grid development.

Beyond industrial manufacturing, GEX has expanded strongly into various fields through strategic investments in Viglacera and other projects. This diversified ecosystem positions the company to benefit from Vietnam's rising FDI inflows, industrialization, and green energy transition.

Financial performance

ROEA

9.49% - 5.53%

ROAA

3.31% - 2.32%

EPS

1,681 VND - 1,671 VND

During the 2020–2025 period, the company recorded relatively positive revenue growth, although profitability fluctuated significantly. Revenue growth increased strongly from 17.20% in 2020 to 59.22% in 2021 and remained positive at 12.28% in 2022 before declining slightly by 6.52% in 2023. However, revenue recovered during 2024–2025 with growth rates of 12.52% and 17.07%, respectively. Net profit after tax fluctuated considerably, falling from VND 1,666,359 million in 2021 to VND 863,884 million in 2023, before surging to VND 2,669,330 million in 2024 and reaching VND 2,956,122 million in 2025. ROEA and ROAA declined sharply during 2022–2023, reaching their lowest levels of 1.56% and 0.61%, respectively, reflecting weaker efficiency in the use of equity and assets. However, both indicators recovered significantly in 2024 before slightly declining again in 2025. EPS also dropped substantially from VND 1,681 in 2020 to VND 388 in 2023, before recovering to VND 1,671 in 2025, indicating that the company's ability to generate returns for shareholders improved again after a challenging period.

RISK TOLERANCE

MEDIUM RISK TOLERANCE

Due to its aggressive expansion strategy and large-scale infrastructure investments. The company actively uses financial leverage and M&A activities to support growth, making its performance sensitive to interest rates, credit market conditions, and renewable energy policies. In addition, its exposure to real estate and construction materials increases cyclical risk. To mitigate these challenges, GEX is gradually adopting a more asset-light strategy and partnering with major international investors to improve financial flexibility and reduce capital pressure.
