

Market Capitalization

16,356
BILLION VND

Total Revenue

8,588
BILLION VND

P/E

6.46

EPS

5,633

EPS

1,014 VND – 5,633 VND

ROAA

2.10% – 9.20%

ROEA

7.06% – 24.97%

Financial performance

During the 2020–2025 period, the company delivered strong profitability despite fluctuations in revenue growth. Revenue declined in 2020–2021, surged by 74.03% in 2022, and remained volatile thereafter. Earnings After Tax increased significantly from VND 430 billion in 2020 to VND 2,354 billion in 2025, reflecting substantial business expansion.

Profitability remained strong throughout the period, with ROEA rising from 7.06% in 2020 to 24.97% in 2025 and ROAA improving from 2.10% to 9.20%. EPS also increased significantly from 1,014.75 to 5,633.34, despite some fluctuations after peaking in 2024. Overall, the company demonstrated strong earnings growth, high profitability, and an ability to maintain solid shareholder returns over the long term.

Market position

IDC is one of Vietnam's leading industrial park developers, with a large land bank and a strong presence in key economic regions. The company operates multiple industrial parks and infrastructure projects, benefiting from the continued inflow of foreign direct investment (FDI) and Vietnam's growing role as a regional manufacturing hub. Its established track record, strategic locations, and diversified revenue streams provide IDC with a competitive advantage and a solid position within the industrial real estate sector.

RISK TOLERANCE

MODERATE RISK

Its business model is relatively stable, supported by recurring revenue from industrial park land leasing, infrastructure services, and utility operations. However, the company is still exposed to several risks, including fluctuations in industrial real estate demand, delays in project approvals, changes in land and investment regulations, and broader economic conditions that may affect foreign direct investment (FDI) inflows. Therefore, IDC offers a balance between growth potential and risk, making it appropriate for investors seeking moderate capital appreciation with manageable volatility.

TIME HORIZON

MEDIUM TO LONG-TERM INVESTMENT HORIZON

For IDICO Corporation, the investment outlook remains favorable as the company continues to capitalize on strong demand for industrial land and infrastructure services

1 TO 3-YEARS STRATEGIC HORIZON

Given the nature of industrial park development, the key period for converting signed lease agreements into recognized revenue and completing ongoing projects is expected to be within the next 1–3 years. This timeframe is likely to support stable earnings growth and enhance shareholder value as project execution progresses.

Medium- and Long-Term Outlook

Expansion of industrial parks and infrastructure projects

IDC continues to develop and expand its industrial park portfolio in key economic regions across Vietnam. The growing demand for industrial land and infrastructure services provides a solid foundation for long-term revenue and earnings growth.

Beneficiary of FDI inflows and manufacturing relocation trends

Vietnam remains an attractive destination for foreign direct investment due to its competitive labor costs, strategic location, and favorable trade agreements. As global manufacturers diversify their supply chains, IDC is well-positioned to benefit from increasing demand for industrial land and factory facilities.

Strong land bank and diversified revenue sources

IDC possesses a large land bank and generates revenue from industrial park leasing, infrastructure services, and utilities. This diversified business model supports stable cash flows and enhances the company's ability to sustain growth over the medium and long term.