Techcombank is one of the leading private banks in Vietnam and the first as well as the only bank in the country to be honored three times in a single year with the “Best Bank in Vietnam” award by prestigious international organizations such as Global Finance, Euromoney, and FinanceAsia. In addition to its outstanding business achievements, Techcombank has demonstrated a strong commitment to corporate social responsibility by contributing VND 170 billion to community activities and securing a record-breaking US$1 billion syndicated international loan. Over the past year, the bank attracted an additional 1.9 million new customers, bringing its total customer base to a record high, thereby further expanding its market share and strengthening its foundation for sustainable growth.

The total operating income (TOI) growth of Techcombank during the 2020–2025 period experienced significant fluctuations, especially with a sharp decline of -1.51% in 2022. However, the bank showed a strong recovery in the following years, indicating that its business operations gradually stabilized and continued to expand. At the same time, ROEA and ROAA remained relatively stable, reflecting the bank’s effective management of assets and capital sources. Meanwhile, EPS, after reaching a peak of VND 5,736, declined to VND 3,567, showing a downward trend in earnings available to common shareholders. Although NIM decreased from 5.63% to 3.5% due to interest rate pressure and rising funding costs, the CAR and NPL ratios were still well controlled, demonstrating the bank’s solid capital foundation and effective risk management capability.

MEDIUM AND LONG-TERM OUTLOOK

- Expanding the financial ecosystem – By continuing to promote digital banking, personal financial services, and strategic partnerships, Techcombank is able to maintain stable revenue growth from lending, banking services, and transaction banking activities.
- Economic recovery and rising credit demand – As business activities and consumer spending improve, the demand for loans and financial services is expected to increase, thereby supporting the bank’s credit growth, interest income, and service revenue.
- Technology and customer-focused development strategy – Techcombank continues to invest heavily in technology, data, and customer experience to improve operational efficiency, enhance service personalization, and maintain its competitive advantage in the banking industry.

TIME HORIZON

With a clear restructuring roadmap and a strong capital adequacy ratio, Techcombank is on track for a long-term strategic transformation. Although TCB currently has a relatively high P/B ratio, this valuation may become more reasonable once the transformation strategy is fully implemented. Therefore, TCB is considered a suitable stock for long-term investors.
