

Thanks to its strong financial foundation, high asset quality, and leading position in Vietnam's banking system. VCB is considered a defensive banking stock due to its stable profitability, low non-performing loan ratio, and large source of low-cost funding. At the same time, Vietcombank still maintains positive long-term growth potential supported by its strong brand, digital transformation strategy, and sustainable credit expansion capability.